CLOSING DATE: 5/31/24 5PM

POSITION INFORMATION:

Liberty Consolidated Planning Commission, a joint planning agency serving Liberty County and its 7 municipal governments, is looking for an Urban Planner. The role of the Urban Planner is to provide professional support for long-range planning projects including comprehensive plan updates, ordinance amendments and zoning administration. This role requires working independently and as part of a team to address long-range planning issues that will involve research, analysis, plan review, and communications with a variety of stakeholders including government boards and agencies. This position also routinely provides information and technical assistance to the public.

Liberty Consolidated Planning Commission is located in Hinesville, Georgia, 40 miles southwest of Savannah. Hinesville and Liberty County are home to Fort Stewart Army Installation, home of the 23,000-soldier Third Infantry Division. Liberty County borders the Atlantic Ocean, with more than 20 miles of shoreline and almost 40,000 acres of saltwater marsh. The Liberty Consolidated Planning Commission offers planners the opportunity to practice in the areas of coastal management planning, environmental planning, transportation planning, urban land use planning, small town planning and rural planning.
